

Heating the Cabin... ...and using the fireplace...

Fireplace controls should always look like this:

...this allows the thermostat to control the fireplace and maintain temperature set-points.

If you want to enjoy a “fire” on-demand, switch fireplace controls to look like this:

...this overrides the thermostat until you switch the controls back to Photo 1. When you're done using the fireplace, don't forget to switch the controls back to Photo 1!

NOTE: In ALL scenarios, the red button should remain pressed in and illuminated.
